POLL: How do you feel about giving feedback on student writing?

How do you help students make meaningful revisions?

Share in the chat, or unmute yourself to speak.

About feedback, students say:

- I don't have time to read every comment
- I don't know how to fix my mistakes
- A lot of writing on my paper means I'll get a bad grade

About feedback, instructors say:

- I keep writing the same things over and over again
- Students don't seem to read anything I write
- I wish I knew if my comments were helpful

Achieve:

- Makes it quick and easy: Unique responses, or choose from a library
- Students are given resources in the e-text to support their revision efforts
- Students cannot move on until they address feedback concerns
- Teachers have a record of feedback loop
